Christian Hospitality and Community – Part II

Dear Friends:

This is the second of a three part series about how we might better extend Christian Hospitality within our fellowship, to our neighbors and to the surrounding community. This month we will delve more deeply into the five important levels of human need and how their understanding and recognition will enable us to be more effective Hosts and Hostesses as we seek to deepen our sharing of Christian Community in the Body of Christ. To begin with all staff persons and members of the congregation, no matter what their role, are outreach ministers. Our programs and ministries must present opportunities for people to experience the love of Christ, to expand their trust in God, and to share their own giftedness by making a contribution to the world that meets true need and adds meaning to the giver's life. It is important for all concerned to understand basic human need as opportunities for faith formation, and to participate in nurturing persons at as many of these levels as situations allow.

Sustenance:

Let us not underestimate how much food and drink represents the care and concern of God. Recall that Christ chose bread and wine to represent his love, sacrifice and presence. Hagar understood God's love for herself and her child, when God provided a source of water to sustain them. (Genesis 21:15-19) Jesus describes the faithful as those who provide drink for the thirsty, food for the hungry and welcome for the stranger (Matthew 25:34-36). If any persons have the chance to serve meals in the Parrish Hall or at a homeless shelter, it is an honor and a tangible expression of Christ's care and concern. Even more, those of us who prepare and serve food recognize that we can nourish the soul not just the body through our interactions, example, and teaching. An experience of Christ's love sustains people at many levels. (John 6:35)

Please call the church office, 601-924-2261, to schedule an appointment.

Safety and Shelter:

Individuals and teams providing maintenance, health care, housekeeping, risk management and other dimensions of our programs and procedures that attend to creating safety, protection, shelter and comfort play an essential role in helping persons draw closer to God and to one another, as well. (Psalm 46:1-3), (Matthew 4:23), (Matthew 25:36), (Psalm 23) Environments where people experience very intentional physical, emotional, and spiritual support and well-being are called sanctuaries. The dictionary defines sanctuary as a consecrated place – a place of refuge and protection. Our Church is indeed dedicated as a holy place where we all strive to create an environment where everyone feels cared for and where barriers are removed that might otherwise hinder them from participating at a deeper level.

Sense of Belonging:

Another essential human longing is the desire to be known, included and valued.

From the very first call or email to the office staff, to the strategies developed by the Vestry to help congregants get to know one another, to the farewell to a departing family, it is vital to be conscious of how our interactions either build up or tear down the possibility for community. Because Christian community is founded squarely on expanding relationships of trust and mutuality based on the love of Christ, how we relate matters a great deal in fulfilling our purpose. Whether or not we invite people into a deeper sense of connection with God and each other, and how we express God's acceptance and embrace has a huge impact.

We can be excellent at various tasks we have to do, and it end up all for naught if we estrange people by our lack of sensitivity, patience, interest in their lives, and compassion.

Community cannot happen when people are afraid to reveal themselves. Nurturing a healthy sense of belonging is a primary part of our responsibilities and vocation, regardless of what our other obligations may include. We do so by growing in our ability to embody love and by encouraging others in doing the same. It seems important to note here that it will be immensely difficult to extend this kind of community to others, if we maintain divisions among ourselves as volunteers and staff. (Ephesians 4:1-3)

Sharing Their Contribution:

We are also in the ministry of helping persons discover their giftedness, then to recognize and celebrate that divine image within themselves and others. We believe that every person has traits, passions and abilities that can enrich life around them. God has designed life in such a way that no individual can even come close to doing it all. No one is self sufficient, not anyone. God reinforces our oneness in Christ by distributing personalities, activities, ways to serve, abilities and other gifts so that we are literally interdependent (this same truth plays out in the whole creation – the interdependency of all of life).

As spiritual leaders, therefore, our ideal is not to do or be everything, but to rally others to contribute to the common good within the group and beyond it where there is need. We help people discover and appreciate their own uniqueness and then facilitate opportunities and ways for people to make a difference large or small that benefits the our community or the wider world.

We inspire members of groups within the congregation to appreciate and honor each other. Finally, we encourage persons with greater experience and skill to teach others. For all this, we give thanks often, both publicly and privately. (Exodus 35: 20-29)

Spiritual Purpose and Self-Expression:

Worship and service can be avenues for us to explore the ultimate meaning of our lives or a way for us to live out our deepest values. What will be my legacy? What is my purpose? What is my vocation? These are the kind of questions many of our guests come with, when their lives are unfulfilling or when they are in the midst of transition. A potent driving force that reenergizes and gives direction is identifying a significant dream or a goal that moves them toward something that they themselves recognize to be meaningful – something yet undone or yet to experience that touches their core. We at Creator have the opportunity to provide the environment where people can delve deeply into these premier concerns and hopes.

A vocation is a calling to a long-term course of action that coincides with what one perceives God really wants him or her to do. It is something the person gains great meaning from, whether they do it for pay or as a volunteer.

Helping persons to consider the greater purpose of their lives involves helping them to draw it forth by seeking the guidance of the Holy Spirit while reviewing their lives, their values, their circumstance, and their passions for clues about their future direction. Spiritual direction, Christian conversation, themes and resources that help people pray and focus on this issue are some ways we might assist persons with this deep longing to live a life with greater purpose that matters not just to others, but to themselves – a life in harmony with God’s will for them and what inspires joy for all of us. Such a life or endeavor may not be easy, but it is full of meaning. (Paul describes his purpose – Philippians 3:7-15), (Esther’s calling – 4:12-16)

Next month in Part three of this series we will explore the Scriptural and Theological sources and implications of a hospitality that welcomes the stranger.

Yours in Christ,

Pastor Bob

EVENSONG WITH NORTHSIDE BAPTIST CHURCH

SUNDAY NOVEMBER 6TH AT 6:30 P.M.

The joint choir program, at Northside Baptist Church, has been moved to November 6.

Please Mark your calendars.

From the

Deacon's Desk

In October, 2010, I came to Creator to serve as your deacon. There are few words I can find to express how much Therese and I appreciated the warm welcome we experienced as Creator became our church family. Not only were we immediately accepted and made to feel a part of Creator, I am grateful for your enthusiasm for a new direction in outreach activities, and, in particular, for the active participation by the Creator family in the various projects we have conducted over the past six years.

For the past year I have been discerning the future of my ministry and, after a fruitful sabbatical this past spring and continued discernment, I met with Bishop Seage in August to discuss my retirement from parish diaconal ministry. The Bishop consented to my retirement at the end of October. I will continue to perform my duties with the A. C. Marble School and serving one Sunday a month at Grace Church in Canton as a part of the school's weekends. I will also continue in the various diocesan activities in which I am involved.

Creator is a very special place. You are a very special people. God has blessed you with many gifts and talents. I know that Creator's outreach activities will continue to grow and blossom under the leadership of all of you!

Deacon Bill

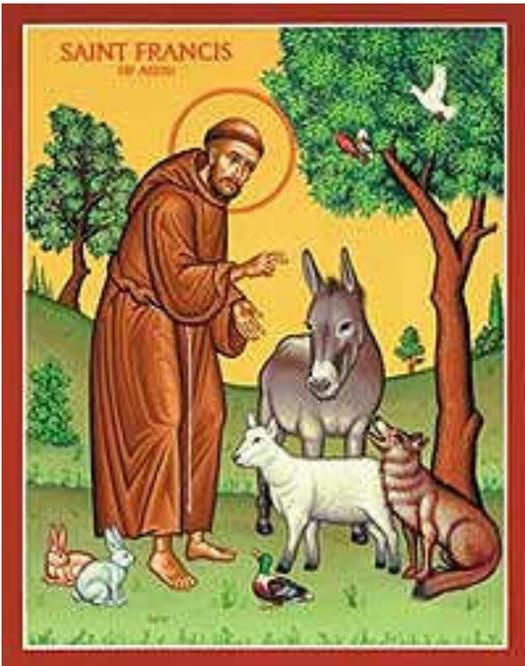

Bible Study: The Experience of God's Presence

Sometimes in the hustle and bustle of the 21st century, we humans get lost in the clamor and noise of Madison Avenue and mass media over the din of how do I pay the mortgage or rent, keep food on the table, and pay the medical bills that we can hear little else. So we need some time to settle down (or center ourselves) on the essence of being human. What does it mean to be created in the image and likeness of the Creator God who is true being (the great I AM?) To assist in this "getting back to the basics" effort, it is good to re-visit what the great teachers and masters of the past have to say about our primary calling or vocation as human beings.

The experience of God's presence and recognizing that presence is at the root of Christian Spirituality. All the Spiritual masters understood this and their experiences have been documented from the unknown writer of "The Cloud of Unknowing", to the more contemporary Howard Thurman, Fr. Thomas Keating, OCSO, Fr. Richard Rohr, OFM, Fr. Henri J. M. Nouwen, and Fr. William A. Barry, SJ.

These are a few of the authors and teachers we will be drawing on Sunday mornings at 9:00 a.m.

September 15, 2016

Dear Friends,

It is time for our Fall Training Program, for volunteers, who feel the need to answer God's call, by helping others face a terminal illness or the illness of a love one. Hospice Ministries is honored to train those who give unselfishly of their time, love and emotional support to patients and their families. Unfortunately because of demand, we are always in need more volunteers. Would you mind placing this announcement in your church bulletin asking for those who may want to answer God's call and join us in helping to bring peace to those facing their last battle?

If possible, please run during the dates: September 18 – October 16, 2016.

Hospice Ministries, a community based, not-for profit organization is in need of volunteers to answer the call of helping others during one of life's most trying experiences, terminally illness. We are offering a free volunteer training program on October 21st – October 23rd. The core of the hospice philosophy is that each person has the right to die free of pain and with dignity, surrounded by loving, compassionate family and friends. Trained hospice volunteers support the work of our caring professionals in providing this quality care, by offering emotional and administrative support, and most importantly companionship to our patients and their families. We are also seeking veterans to work on a special program involving other veterans with terminal illness.

Our next class will start on Friday, October 21st, 5:30 p.m. – 8:30 p.m., continues on Saturday, October 22nd, 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. (lunch will be provided) then concludes on Sunday, October 23rd, from 1:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m. It is a fast paced course, filled with speakers and refreshments.

Eventually most of us will face the death of someone we love. Hospice Ministries tries to make a difference and volunteers are an essential part of this special kind of loving care. There are a number of ways to serve those in need; administratively, working with special events or through direct patient care by giving emotional or spiritual support. Please contact Volunteer Services at 601-898-1053 ext. 258 to register or if you have any questions about hospice care. Please check out our website at www.hospiceministries.org under Volunteer Services for more information on Hospice Ministries.

Thank you for helping us by publicizing this announcement in your Church bulletin. We are also available for talks on "Hospice", or "Volunteering with Your Community". We believe it takes all of us to support and help families and each other during difficult times.

Sincerely,

Jeri Flinn
Volunteer Services Coordinator,
